

Transport, Telecommunications and Energy Council in Luxembourg

The Transport, Telecommunications and Energy Council (TTE) is composed of the EU ministers responsible for transport, telecommunications or energy, depending on the topics to be discussed. The Council meets formally about four times a year and at least as many times again on an informal basis. The TTE Council deals with matters ranging from transport safety to mobile communications and energy security.